Where is Weihai ?

Weihai, a well-know port and tourist city in China, is one of the coastal open cities and the first national Environmental City in China as well as one of the first national Model Cities for Environmental Protection located at the eastern tip of Shandong Peninsula, which is 560 kilometers away from Beijing, 1 hour by air. Weihai and Yantai (60 km) International Airports serve the city with regular service to Beijing, Shanghai, Guangzhou, Harbin domestically and the Korean cities of Seoul and Pusan. With the four seasons distinctively different, Weihai enjoys an agreeable climate. The environmental quality indexes such as atmosphere, water and noise have reached or surpassed the national standards, which makes Weihai an ideal place for tourism, summer resort and recuperation.
