Introduction

Triathlon made its Olympic debut at the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games and has since become one of the world's fastest-growing sports. After Beijing 2008, in the midst of this success, the World Triathlon, the sport's worldwide governing body, unveiled an exciting new global series for the world's top athletes; World Triathlon Championship Series.

The World Triathlon Championship Series comprises Standard-Distance (1.5km swim, 40km bike and 10km run), Sprint-Distance (750m swim, 20km bike and 5km run), two-day Semi-Final/Final formats and Mixed Relay Series events, including the annual World Triathlon Sprint & Relay Championships.

Elite triathletes compete in up to ten World Triathlon Championship Series races a year, including the World Triathlon Championship Finals, as they endeavour to accumulate sufficient points to become World Triathlon Champion. Since its launch, the profile of the World Triathlon Championship Series has grown rapidly, and is now firmly established as the pinnacle of Standard and Sprint-Distance triathlon across the globe. The Mixed Relay format was added to the programme of the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games, providing another huge spotlight on the sport.

The World Triathlon Championship Finals serves as the last event of the Series, and offers the highest number of points for the Elite athletes' World Championship rankings. The event also includes the U23, Para triathlon and Age-Group (standard, super sprint, and standard aquabike) World Championships.

The World Triathlon Championship Series continues to attract the world's finest triathletes and produce the most exciting head-to-head racing in the sport. In addition to being part of the official World Championships, World Triathlon Championship Series races are key qualifying events for the Olympic Games.

As such, the series offers significant media coverage and exposure, including live broadcast distribution at every event through global media as well as on World Triathlon's own OTT platform, Triathlonlive.tv. World Triathlon's social media channels further extend the reach of every event and every Host City to sports fans in all corners of the world.

The prestigious World Triathlon Championship Finals brings unique opportunities

Host Cities, with the endorsement of their respective National Federation, can bid to host a World Triathlon Championship Finals, the crown jewel of World Triathlon's annual calendar. Previous hosts have included such cities as London, Budapest, Beijing, Auckland, Chicago, Gold Coast and Lausanne.

The World Triathlon Championships Finals creates an instant economic impact by bringing in a significant number of international tourists to the Host City, consisting of over 5,000 competitors, support teams, officials, family and friends. With the addition of local races, the number of competitors can exceed 10,000.

The occasion of a World Triathlon Championship Finals brings together athletes of all levels, from future stars and Olympic medallists to every aspect of the mass participation market. Triathlon is one of the fastest growing mass participation sports in the world and Host Cities can benefit from major sports tourism activation. The World Triathlon Championship Finals Host City will also welcome the annual World Triathlon Congress with delegates from up to 173 countries, making decisions on the future of the sport.

The World Triathlon Championship Finals Host City can expect to attract an audience of millions of people from around the world. This includes international TV distribution of the live coverage, international mainstream TV and print media distribution, full coverage on Triathlonlive.tv and extensive social media presence.

EARTH AIR WATER

The world we are living in is changing rapidly. Industrial and economic progress has come at a great cost to the planet, but it is not too late to make decisions and take actions that can halt the damage done to our environment and stem the tide of global warming.

It is in the very nature of our duty as the governing body of one of the world's fastest growing sports that World Triathlon reaches all corners of the globe. We host large-scale events in major cities attracting thousands of participants and even more spectators. We now know the impact that daily occurrences such as global travel and the use of plastics has on our planet, and we want to become a leader not just among fellow International Sports Federations, but global organisations of all kinds, in taking action and encouraging our stakeholders to do likewise.

As part of this approach, World Triathlon has introduced the World Triathlon Sustainability Guide for Event Organizers. This document is an invitation to our event organiser partners to engage in the journey of social, economic and environmental sustainability within the delivery of their event.

Some are already engaged, either on a voluntary basis or due to local legislation, and others have not yet started. Regardless of your location on this journey, this document offers a non-exhaustive list of actions to help keep you moving into the direction of sustainability.

It will also serve as a framework for a World Triathlon Sustainability certification system, which will recognize the commitments of LOCs to minimize their footprint.
