

Kitzbühel, February 2023

DISCLAIMER

By registering for the Kitzbühel Triathlon I declare that I have read and taken note of the disclaimer issued by the organiser.

Each participant (or his/her legal guardian) expressly confirms with his/her registration that he/she participates in the event at his/her own risk and responsibility and that he/she will not make any claims for compensation for photos and film recordings etc. made during the event.

Each participant (or his/her legal guardian) is informed of the health and other dangers/circumstances associated with the competition. He/she will not make any claims whatsoever against the organiser or other persons involved in the event.

The organiser is not liable for injuries, accidents, damage to property or theft. Due to theft cases in the past, the athletes' area and the transition area will be video-monitored for the safety of the athletes and their equipment. The recordings will be deleted after the event and will only be viewed or handed over to the police in the case of a crime.

Each athlete is responsible for his/her own personal training and health condition as well as the technical condition of the equipment used.

By registering for the Kitzbühel Triathlon, the participant accepts the competition regulations and this disclaimer as binding procedural regulations.
